

Negotiations

The South Koreans have pulled out of the negotiations so it looks like we're back to _____ one.

How about this? if you buy three games, I'll throw in a gamepad to sweeten the
_____.

We're willing to negotiate about wages and working conditions, but we draw the _____ at job reductions.

It's important that we get both sides to sit at the table. Once they are there,
I'm sure they'll find some common _____.

The sticking _____ seems to be CD sales, neither side can agree on who should get the royalties for the band's back catalogue.

You drive a hard _____ Mr Wong. But ok, you have a deal.

There are other buyers who are interested in our product, so that gives us
the upper _____ going into these negotiations.

hand ground line point square bargain deal
---

Do you have any similar idioms in your own language?