

fighting idioms

The politician shot himself in the _____ when he admitted he had avoided paying taxes for the last five years.

That remark was below the _____. Don't bring my weight into this!

Why are you angry with me, I'm only bringing you the news. Don't shoot the _____.

Ok, then we fight _____ with fire. If they want to undercut our prices let's see how low they are willing to go.

He doesn't pull any _____, does he? He always says exactly what he thinks.

Police are fighting a losing _____ in their war against drug dealers on the Coronation Square estate.

You were my best friend but I will never forgive you. You stabbed me in the _____ when you stole my girlfriend.

I dodged a _____ when I decided against buying that car, apparently it broke down permanently a few days later.

punches bullet fire foot back messenger belt battle

Do you have any similar idioms in your own language?