

Halloween Idioms

That new guy in IT is a bit of a weirdo, he gives me the _____.

It turns out that the squeaky clean senator actually has a few _____ in her closet.

I get so angry when I see people being cruel to animals, it makes my _____ boil!

If Mozart knew his music was being used for a car advert, he would turn in his _____.

Are you ok there Dave? You look like you have seen a _____.

This place has been like a ghost _____ since the students went home for the summer.

I jumped out of my _____ when I saw my neighbour's face at the window.

Speak of the _____, we were just talking about your performance last night.

skin skeletons ghost devil blood town creeps grave

Do you have any similar idioms in your own language?